editorial

This would have to be one of the hardest editorials I have written. As I try to write this less than a week after the Christchurch earthquake, it is hard to find words that aren't trite or insensitive but it would be fair to say surely that every New Zealander has been affected in some way and perhaps changed forever, even those not in the Christchurch area.

And I am reassured. We are bombarded endlessly these days by media reports from all over the world of catastrophic events whether it is war in Africa or the Far East or natural disasters. Yet I didn't find myself desensitised by the unfolding disaster in Christchurch, in fact I couldn't pull myself away from the live coverage, even when it reduced me to tears. I felt the need to be staunch and try and understand the enormity of what was occurring. Really I don't think I can but I want to try.

Mayor Bob Parker continues to astound me with his demeanour, courage and empathy for his people – he is my New Zealander of the Year.

I hope you all have been out enjoying the glorious summer as it continues to bless us with lovely days and nights for winter is just around the corner!

cover story Speedway history

I recently had the opportunity to visit a small home museum established by a local resident to help preserve the history of speedway in Taranaki.

Wayne Paul, a member of the Taranaki Historic Speedway Club, has created in his home garage a wonderful display of all things speedway. From vehicles such as two vintage midget racing cars from the 1940's through to a more modern TQ racing car. There is also a selection of motorbikes including older style side car bikes, as well as racing uniforms and other memorabilia of interest. Wayne has amassed his collection from various sources such as Trade Me as well as having many pieces donated. He also has other collections of interest such as a vast array of car number plates from all over the globe.

Wayne's collection would be of interest to many people and not just speedway enthusiasts. He has a restored 'Mountain Goat' bike which was built by local John Callender. The bike was designed as a hard working farm vehicle in pre Japanese farm bike days. Wayne says it's a fantastic little bike with one of them being taken by Sir Edmund Hillary and Peter Mulgrew on an Everest expedition. As well as the interesting vehicles and other pieces in his museum Wayne is a veritable fountain of motor racing knowledge and even had books that he could show me about my own father, Johnny Mansel, who was a racing car driver in the 50's and 60's.

The two midget cars that Wayne has on display as well as all the other vehicles are all in immaculate and working condition. The cars are still taken for a run from time to time but Wayne explained that the bikes operate with a total loss oil system which means there is just too much labour involved cleaning them up to warrant taking them out on the track.

Wayne has been involved with Speedway all his life as both his parents were heavily involved in the sport and he also competed. He told me Taranaki Speedway was originally based in our local area at Waiwakaiho at a track where Fitzroy Engineering is now located. In 2002 Wayne and a group of six friends formed the Taranaki Historic Speedway Club. The club now has a membership of 170-180 members including some from overseas including racing icon Ivan Mauger. Meeting on the second Tuesday of every month at the Fitzroy Golf Club the club invites guest speakers such as ex

NZ Speedway Champion Michael Pickens. New members are always welcome to come along.

On Saturday 12th March the North Island Midget Car Championship was held at the Stratford raceway, followed by a club day on Sunday which offered a good opportunity for the public to see these older cars up close.

Anyone wanting to visit Wayne's museum of Speedway treasures can contact him directly Ph 758 0962 to arrange a suitable time.

Local artist has March exhibition at Real Tart

Local artist Amanda Hewlett will be showing a small exhibition of her work at Real Tart gallery from the 1st of March through until the end of the month.

I spoke with Amanda about this current series of paintings that she has been working on and how the exhibition came about.

At Christmas Real Tart ran a competition where artists could submit a work on a 20cm x 20cm canvas and the winner would be given the opportunity to have a wall in the gallery to exhibit their work for a month. Amanda submitted a painting not realising it was a competition and so when she was told she was the winner it was a very pleasant surprise and one that has given her huge motivation to get out into her studio and paint over summer.

The resulting paintings are, she says, "Based around the thought that our life is impacted by significant people both in a positive and negative way. You may not realise at the time the significance but it evident over time." For her this influence is not about a particular person in her life but a generalisation.

The paintings all have Amanda's familiar style stamped upon them; with her technique of using lots of paint layers she achieves beautiful results in her interpretation of the sky and water.

This will be a small exhibition with just four or five paintings in the collection but it is one well worth taking time to go and see.

Amanda Hewlett at Real Tart Gallery March 1st – 31st.

Arthouse in March

What bounty we have for your viewing pleasure at Arthouse this month!
Utterly fabulous... the long awaited:

Gainsbourg - In the 60's, singer Serge Gainsbourg mixed pop outlawry with lechery to blaze his own hipster manifesto, seducing Brigitte Bardot, Juliette Gréco and Jane Birkin in the process. His persistent iconoclasm and famous personal degeneracy made him a fixture in French public life until his death in 1991. His song Je T'aime Moi Non Plus, was widely blacklisted and condemned by the Vatican. In France Gainsbourg is now a national icon. At his funeral, which brought Paris to a standstill, the then French President François Mitterrand said, "He was our Baudelaire, our Apollinaire... He elevated the song to the level of art." Gainsbourg has several famous fans: Jarvis Cocker, REM's Michael Stipe, Portishead, Tricky, Placebo and Cat Power, to name a few.

(Music, Doco; French with English subtitles).

"The best movie of the year. Beautifully acted and emotionally honest - naturalistic, heartbreaking, real and rare." (New York Daily News)

Wagner and Me: Great British actor and writer, Stephen Fry, explores his passion for the world's most controversial German composer, Richard Wagner (1813-1883). But Fry is Jewish and lost family members in the Holocaust — can he salvage the music he loves from its dark association with anti-Semitism and the Nazis? Shot on location in Germany, Switzerland and Russia, the film includes unique behind the scenes access to the Bayreuth Festival, the annual extravaganza of Wagner's music held in the composer's own theatre.

(Music, Documentary; UK, Switzerland, Russia, Germany)

Fair Game: This action thriller is based on the autobiography of real life undercover CIA operative, Valerie Plame (Naomi Watts), whose career was destroyed and marriage strained to its limits when her covert identity was illegally exposed.

(True Story, Thriller; USA)

Get Low: Set in 1930's Tennessee, Get Low is a comedy spun from equal parts folktale and real life legend. A feared backwoods recluse, known as Felix Bush (a fantastically bearded Robert Duvall), wants to hold a funeral for himself while he is still alive. Sensing a big payday in the offing, fast talking funeral home owner, Frank (Bill Murray), enlists his gentlemanly young apprentice, Buddy (Lucas Black), to win over Felix's business. Buddy is no stranger to Felix's dark reputation, but he discovers that behind Felix's surreal plan lies a very real and long held secret that must get out.

Once again Robert Duvall proves why he is one of America's most beloved actors. He only gets better with age. This is among his best performances.

TOM Garden of the Month

Ten years ago George and Lyn Roberts bought a two hectare block of land along Mangorei Rd. They subdivided the land keeping a two acre 'T' shaped block for themselves on which they built their home and proceeded to create a beautiful park like garden.

The land is a sloping valley that is protected from south westerly winds, although northerlies and south easterlies still impact on this property which was once a sheep farm. Our region had just been buffeted for several days by strong winds from the remains of a cyclone but the property was in remarkably good shape with just the odd tree branch down. A fine misty rain persisted as George and I toured the property but it could not detract from the beauty of this wonderful garden. From the road you would never know what lay beyond the house but a neighbour of George and Lyn recommended the TOM take a peek and we are pleased she did.

From the home you get a breathtaking view down the valley and an appreciation of the size of the garden and the commitment of its owners. George showed me some before and after aerial photos of the property which show the huge transformation that has taken place. They have kept many of the large trees growing on the original farm and these include a huge golden weeping willow, a golden elm, some acers and a gliditsia. These all helped form a framework for future planting which has involved a huge amount of trees and shrubs. Whilst Lyn is the ideas person behind the garden, George does most of the actual gardening and it's obviously a passion which sees him spending 20-30 hours a week working on the property. He went on to say the really hard work has been done and it is now at a stage where it is easy to get it back in to order.

Over the years there has been many man hours invested in the property. The pond which is George's favourite part of the garden was a labour of love. Formerly just a small farm pond, it is now a large retained pond resplendent with beautiful water lilies in red, pink and creamy yellow. Home to families of ducks and with the enormous weeping willow hanging over one end, it is picture perfect and easy to see why he enjoys this area of the garden so much. There is a lovely walking path around the pond planted with a variety of plants including some very healthy hosta in flower. George has made sure all the property is accessible by digging out paths often by hand. Most of the paths have also needed retaining as the property is very steep in places but with the paths in place can be enjoyed by most. A real feature is the area directly below the house where a steep staircase leads up to a seat and sundial. From this point you have a spectacular view of the more formal garden below with its symmetrical planting, fountain surrounded by clipped pittosporum golf balls and one of the few areas of flower beds where the couple have a variety of roses. This area then flows onto lawns, groups of trees and down to the pond.

It is easy to see that trees, particularly flowering trees are favourites with Lyn and George. For Lyn, magnolias are her favourite and there are yellow, cream and burgundy specimens growing in the garden. For George it is rhododendrons and in particular the gorgeous red 'Kaponga'. Amongst the other flowering trees that are found in this garden wonderland are gardenias, Awanui cherries which line the driveway to the garage, camellias and a beautiful jacaranda covered in purple blooms. The large selection of trees includes many natives, which attracts bird life such as kereru, tui, wax eyes and yellow hammers.

George has used clipped buxus to great effect all over the garden, often as a neat edge to an area of mass planting of trees. He grows the buxus very successfully from clippings and has given heaps away to gardening friends.

On the retained wall below the house the couple have a small vegetable garden and they also have grapefruit, cape gooseberry, mandarins, walnuts, tangelos and passion fruit growing. There's also some sunflowers put in Lyn says for the grandchildren to enjoy.

George and Lyn's garden is a favourite with the little ones and there's plenty of room to kick a ball around on the grass at the rear of the property.

Although George says the hard work is done, you can see that with a property of this size there is always room for new plans to be implemented and that the garden will constantly be evolving as the trees mature. Currently George is planting out the rear bank behind the pond with camellias.

It's hard to believe that at only ten years old this garden is relatively 'young' but it is a wonderful testament to the couple's love of trees and nature to see what they have achieved in those ten years.

As the song says, "It's Different for Girls"

Within a single generation, women have increasingly been succeeding in the workplace and in positions of authority that were once male strongholds. This has meant that more women have had to become financially aware to an extent that their mothers and most certainly their grandmothers, never had to be. Of all the issues women face, perhaps the most important is saving for retirement.

The reality is that more than half of all NZ women will spend all or some of their retirement alone, simply because they tend to live longer. Combined with the fact that in most relationships the man is usually the older partner, that adds up to a lot more women on their own in retirement.

Thinking about how to generate enough income to last around 20 years is far from easy for many.

With increasing numbers of women spending much of their retirement alone, adequate provision must be made to ensure those years will be comfortable. Women also need to be just as aware as their partners of financial issues such as knowing what their household income is and where it all comes from and what it will be during retirement.

If you want your retirement dreams to come true, you need to plan to make it happen. It may look daunting, but talking it over with a professional adviser will make it more manageable and show you just what steps you need to take.

Waiwaka Tennis Club

At the end of February, the club is showing good results and patronage, with a healthy influx of new members, both Junior and Senior at the free junior coaching sessions, at senior club evenings, and in interclub competition teams.

By the time this article goes to print, the TTA Senior interclub competition will be facing the semi finals. With a little luck and hard won effort, both the clubs' Soffe Cup and A grade Division 2 teams will hold their current ladder positions and retain entry to the semis. This will be an enviable and well earned record, as no other Taranaki club fielding a team in each of these grades would be having both sides in the final four. This displays the depth of talent and experience at the club and all players are to be commended. This fact should also provide a good degree of inspiration and motivation for the clubs' youthful A3 team and the junior sections of the club, who are benefiting from the coaching being provided by the Club.

The weather has certainly been conducive to tennis and we have welcomed a number of new members and their families to the club since the beginning of the year.

One of our members has recently had a very worthy achievement at the New Zealand Masters Games held in Wanganui in February. David Lace, a Soffe Cup player, gained a silver medal in both the A1 men's singles and doubles for his age group. Well done David.

Club players have also been represented in Junior and Senior Taranaki rep teams which have been swinging into action recently.

A reminder to anyone (adult or school-age) interested in taking up or playing tennis - its not too late, there is plenty of game time and good weather left this season, and the Club is offering discounted, mid-season membership fees that are very good value. Membership entitles players to club fixtures, interclub competition, free group coaching for school children, plenty of technical and social support, and free access to the club's courts at all times.

If this is of interest, come and visit us on one of our Club nights, or make contact with us. We also offer junior and adult coaching - so all experience levels are embraced. See below for details.

Junior coaching is very well attended, and the Club's coaches, Yvonne and John, are doing a great job at organising and teaching skills to the many club members being given the opportunity of the free group coaching.

The Club wishes to acknowledge the support of the following organisations that have enabled the delivery of quality coaching and equipment this season - New Zealand Community Trust, and the Lion Foundation. We also wish to acknowledge as our sponsors, the following local businesses, who make a valued contribution to the Club - Stumble Inn & Cafe, Merrilands New World, Van Beers Motors.

A reminder that Senior Club evenings are on Thursdays, from 6pm. These are a social event, run in a convivial atmosphere. They are a great way to meet and play against a variety of players, with games run informally on a rotating, 'pot-luck' draw. "Try before you buy." Come down to the courts and join in, no obligations. Junior coaching is on Wednesdays and Thursdays after school.

For any enquiries, please contact Bob Momich on 758 4044 (ah), 021-1400151; or for Juniors only contact John Sims on 758 1026 (ah) or Yvonne Chamberlain on 757 4232.

Schnauzers swelter in the sun

In late February Schnauzer owners from all over New Plymouth got together for a 'schnauzer picnic' at the Glen Avon Dog Training Centre.

No one is quite sure how many dogs turned out for the picnic as they didn't sit still long enough to count but it was in the vicinity of 30 dogs!

Organiser Virginia Mills was delighted with the turnout and all the dogs seemed to have a great time. There was plenty of 'bum' sniffing, territorial marking and defecating going on but the sheer joy of being together made for a happy outing for the dogs. The owners on the other hand were happy to sit in the shade and watch indulgently on as their pets reacquainted themselves with siblings, parents and new friends.

There was no schnauzer that looked the same as another – a bit like humans really, they all had their own little characteristics that made them unique and the different personality types shone through. The funny thing is they all seemed to know they belonged to the same genetic group unlike a couple of other breeds who definitely found themselves on the outer.

I love hearing what all the dogs names are – it is such a hard decision coming up with a name and here is a sample of a few I heard on the day: Hunter, Jack, Kobe, Mozart, Oscar, Baxter, Sailor, Harley, Penny, Monie, Molly, Poppy, Meka.

Thank you to Jim the Dog Ranger who provided some prizes for a couple of doggie competitions and also to Virginia for organising the event.

If you would like to know more about schnauzers or be kept in the loop regarding future schnauzer events contact Virginia Mills ph 7588416 or email Virginia.mills@slingshot.co.nz

New Plymouth Surf Riders' Club

Summer has been a busy time for the New Plymouth Surf Riders' Club with members taking the opportunity to enjoy some of the great surf available in Taranaki as well as the warm waters which encourage the exchange of wet suits for boardies and rashies making the experience much more enjoyable.

Two major events have been undertaken: our annual club championships and the fun 70's Single-Fin Retro evening as well as hosting the Taranaki Intermediate School Championships.

Over the weekend of February 5 and 6, the Club champs drew 130 entries and although the surf and the weather were not all-time great the enthusiasm and skills of the contestants made for an epic weekend. Dedicated to a time 40 years ago and an almost forgotten design, the 70's RETRO celebrates the single-fin design that was soon overtaken by the twin-fin-short-board revolution that continues today. Competitors must ride a genuine 1970's single-fin and points are also awarded for dressing in the style of the time. Like the famous "Eddie" in Hawaii there is no set date just a waiting period for a Friday evening that provides good weather and suitable surf. It requires competitors to keep in touch as the call is made on the Wednesday prior to the event. 2011 was the second time this event has been held and the entries were double that of last year and it was great to see our ladies entering into the fun and providing a glimpse of the glamour of a period when they were just groms.

There are just two judges (Arch and Pid) who surfed the single-fins and so are the only ones able to correctly score the rides while the competitors take part in an en-masse forty minute "expression-session".

Results: Surfing: 1 Jamie Andrews. Best Dressed: Dubstar - who squeezed into his 1970's wet suit and later paid the price for some highly compressed assets.

Cheech, The Donn and Chong!

Mr Crimplene.

Peace, love and drop ins (or outs!).

Friday February 18 made the news for the number of waterspouts observed off the coast but of more importance to the Intermediate Schools were their annual surfing championships. While 32 boys competed the girls' entries have doubled to 16 which is great. This age-group are so enthusiastic and a pleasure to see enjoying their sport, and while the waterspouts provided an impromptu lesson in the weather the fun of testing themselves against their peers was very enjoyable. Thanks to Richard Thompson (Associate Principal at Devon Intermediate) for his superb organisation in bringing together entries from all Taranaki Intermediate Schools and we wish you well in your retirement later this year Richard.

Results from the Taranaki Intermediate Surfing Champs:

Girls: 1 Jana O'Connor (Sacred Heart), 2 Lani Moorehouse (Bell Block), 3 Bailey Bruckner (Devon), 4 Paige Burrows (Oakura).

Boys: 1 Isaac kettle (Devon), 2 Josh Farr (Home School), 3 Dean Vickers (Manukoriki), 4 Daniel Farr (Home School).

Plate Girls: 1 Atalya Fakavanoeanga (Oakura), 2 Sophie Willis (Oakura), 3 Kate McLean (Oakura).

Plate Boys: 1 Corbin Williams (Highlands), 2 William Luff, (Highlands), 3 Sonny Thomas (Highlands).

East End SLSC - Oceans XI – 2011

The East End team has just returned from Mount Maunganui where it competed in the U14 National Surf Lifesaving Championships. It was a sombre start to the event as it began just two days after the catastrophic earthquake in Christchurch. A few of the Christchurch clubbies still travelled north to compete and we gladly supplied them with any gear they needed. Day one saw massive seas and spectacular action on the water. We toughed it out and made it through to a few semi finals before the arenas were put on hold. The action then moved to the Beach Flag arenas where Jessica Tarrant collected East End's first gold medal in the U12 Women's Beach Flags. Day two – the sea was starting to ease, however a solid drift had developed making it impossible to run the water events. The competition moved to Pilot Bay where the calm waters allowed the tube rescue and board rescue events to be completed. East End competed well but was unable to make it past the semi finals. Day three, we started with the Mixed Beach Relay where the U13 team (Javon McCallum, Zac Howarth, Sinead Malley, Jessica Tarrant) bought home another gold medal for East End. A lot of water events took place in order to make up time. This was extremely tough on the competitors and it bought home how fit and determined these young athletes are. The day ended with the 2km Beach Relay. This is an extremely tough event in the soft sand. It was even tougher for one of the East End teams, with two girls having competed in a Board Relay events only minutes before the start. This didn't seem to slow them down as they charged home to secure a well deserved silver medal. Well done to Chris Kelly, Isabella Kelly, Javon McCallum, and Jessica Tarrant. Day four – this is finals day where these young athletes got a chance to shine in the remaining events. East End quickly increased their medal tally with a gold in the U13 Men's Beach Sprint (Javon McCallum), a silver in the U11 Women's Beach Sprint (Isabella Kelly), and bronze in the U13 Women's Beach Sprint.

Overall, the 17 strong team made 22 finals; collected three gold medals; two silver medals and one bronze medal. We finished on 17 points, moving us into ninth position on the points table out of 43 teams.

The team spirit and courage these young athletes displayed over the duration of the event was simply outstanding. Huge thanks to all the parents and helpers who contributed to the success of the team.

Go EAST END!!!

The shake of the quake and the impact on Mangorei School

The Christchurch earthquake affected many people including the friends and family of some of the children at Mangorei School. Our fellow students here at Mangorei School have kindly given their time to talk to us about their connections and thoughts about the Christchurch earthquake.

Olivia (Y8) spoke of her teenage cousin Cameron who was stuck in the water closet when the earthquake struck. He was helped out of the building as it collapsed behind him. He was scared and worried for everyone else who was in the building, but his family and friends are glad he is not hurt or injured. Olivia is worried for the people of Christchurch and hopes they will be back in their homes as soon as possible.

Curt (Y8) told us of his 19 year old sister Anita who went to Te Papa in Wellington and experienced a fake earthquake in one of Te Papa's expositions. Curt feels sad about the earthquake and for the people of Christchurch because they got hit twice and to him that seems unfair.

Finn (Y8) spoke proudly of his dad who works for the urban search and rescue team and is helping down in Christchurch to remove some of the rubble and remains of the derelict and damaged buildings in the CBD. He has experienced many aftershocks. Finn's dad also helped in the last earthquake and on Wednesday night, with the rest of the urban search and rescue crew, they had pulled out nine bodies. As the search continues his dad worries about another earthquake or a large aftershock. If this happens then rocks or rubble could be dangerous to all people nearby and untrustworthy buildings may fall or hurt many more than already.

Brett (Y8) feels sad that there isn't clean water in parts of Christchurch and that some people don't have homes to go to at night. Brett hopes all the people of Christchurch will be able to find their way back to a normal life soon.

Ellie (Y8) is very upset and feels concerned for those affected in the Christchurch earthquake. Ellie also hopes that they find more people and they are safe and well. Ellie sends her love and support to the people of Christchurch.

Jayne (Y8) is disappointed that there were not more people pulled alive from the wreckage.

Nick (Y8) hopes all this drama with the earthquake in Christchurch would be over soon so they can go back to living life. At the time this article was written he hopes they will find more people.

On Monday 28th February we held a 'Black and Red' day where students and staff wore Canterbury colours and brought along a gold coin to donate to the Red cross. Over $500 was raised by our school. We are also investigating writing letters to a Christchurch school to show them our support and thoughts at this time. Here at Mangorei School we'd like to give our thanks to all the people who have helped save lives down in Christchurch. You are true heroes. We'd like to give all the Cantabrians of Christchurch our love and support from us here at Mangorei School - the City School with the Country heart.

Merrilands Kindergarten

Kia ora! There has been a strong interest in fishing this term. The children first expressed a desire to fish so we made fishing rods out of bamboo sticks. We tied string or wool to the ends of the sticks and tied a magnet on to the end of the string. The children drew and cut out fish from thick sheets of plastic. One child even drew a truck and a car for us to catch! We put several staples into each object to catch and put them on a table. Then we went fishing! It was very exciting and most children exclaimed, "I got one! I got one!" This interest led to one of the teachers bringing a snapper that had been in the freezer for a while. We observed it, touched it, and smelled it as the day wore on! The next day we dissected it and the children saw all of its innards and even a chewed up piece of another fish from inside the snapper's stomach! Another teacher then bought a whole squid at the supermarket for us to look at. We discovered that it has a beak that it eats through and it is hard just like a bird's beak. Very interesting! The next day we ate squid rings, but not from that squid. Very tasty with lemon and garlic. A parent brought a huge crayfish for us to look at too, which was very prickly and the biggest I have seen yet. So, we have been enjoying many experiences with sea creatures! This inspired us to book an excursion to the Kawaroa Rock Pools. We rode the bus and made our way down some steps made of rocks to enter the beauty and wonder of what was waiting to be discovered. We peeked under this rock or beside that piece of flowing seaweed. It was so exciting to see the variety of things scuttle and zip away as we uncovered them. We saw crabs, shrimp, shells with a living surprise inside, small fish, starfish, seaweed and many other glimpses of amazing and wondrous creatures. We took containers and nets to catch and observe things, but put all living creatures back in the rock pools before we left. What an adventure we all had! We hope you are all safe and well and we extend our heartfelt sympathy to those closely affected by the Canterbury earthquake.

pet of the month

TOM Pet of the Month

Name: Indi

Breed: Golden Retriever

Age: Twelve weeks

Indi is even cuter in real life if that's possible. She is a silky soft bundle of full on puppy exuberance and simply irresistible. Indi's favourite occupation at the moment is playing with her toys and family in the back yard. When she gets too warm she just takes a quick dip in the paddling pool that her family have set up for her. Indi has joined her family a year after their thirteen year old dog 'PK' died. PK was also was a Golden Retriever and a lovely gentle giant that was a regular sight walking on our local beach. Indi is still getting her "beach legs" - getting used to the sounds and feel of the sea and sand but when she does we will no doubt be seeing her out and about on our local beaches and walkway.
